THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 1

Getting Desperate.

Some of the office buildings in the large cities are constructed apparently with the idea that every possible square foot of space must be utilized for renting purposes. The corridors are narrow, the passageways to the elevator shafts hard to find and the stairways located in obscure corners.
There may be fire escapes, but they are equally obscure, and a stranger would not know where to look for them.

The occupants of a room on the seventh floor of a building of this kind, devoted to the uses of a fire and life insurance companies' agent, were surprised one day by the sudden entrance of a wild-eyed man who seemed to be laboring under strong excitement.

"Say," gasped the intruder, "will some of you fellows please throw me out of this building!"
"What for?" asked one of the clerks.
"I've been trying for fifteen minutes to find a way out of it, and I can't."

"They did not throw him out, but piloted him to the elevators, and he succeeded at last in making his escape.—Exchange.

Nearly a School Scandal.

What might have been a terrible sensation, calling for public investigation and much newspaperery, was averted by the visit of a shocked mamma to one of our public primary schools. A friend of the mother was calling at the house and asked the little daughter.

"How do you like your teacher?"
"Oh, my teacher is nice," answered Tot, "but she is always asking us for a cigarette."

"What?" cried the lady and the mamma in horrified tones, seeing confirmation of the morals of Tot under the teachings of a modern bachelor of the feminine gender.
"Yes, mamma. She says, 'Cigarette,' cigarette."

The next day mamma visited the school. As she entered the class room the teacher was calling first to one child and then to another, "Sit erect, sit erect!" while Tot flashed a glance of intelligence and "Didn't I tell you so?" at her mother.—Wasp.

It is a Wise Child.

An official of the immigration bureau at Ellis Island told a story of a wise little immigrant child.

"A little girl came over in the steerage in search of her father, whose name she gave us. We sent for the man, and he came and looked at her.
"I can't tell whether this is Mary or not," said he. "I haven't seen Mary since she was a baby about three months old. How can I tell, then, whether this is Mary or not?"

"It was a question we couldn't answer, so we looked from him to the child and from the child back to him, remaining silent.

"Finally, when we were all at our wits' end, he looked earnestly at the child and said plaintively, 'Am I your father?"

"And the wise little child answered quickly, 'Yes, you are.'"
"And so we made her over to him."

"Hang on Tight"

When a smoking car with thirty-five passengers jumped the track, a railroad engine in the car, off duty, yelled to the passengers to "hang on tight," and while the car turned over no one was hurt.

"Hang on tight" is good advice in most upsets. The man who hangs on tight to himself when his temper is upset will get through without hurting either himself or others. The man who "hangs on tight" to his earnings ends with a competence. The man who "hangs on tight" to his place when business upsets come generally holds down his job. The man who "hangs on tight" when discouragement or even disaster upsets others is a man to be hopeful about, because he will keep right side up whatever else turns over.—Philadelphia Press.

Saved by a Dream.

"Hints conveyed by dreams are occasionally worth heeding," says the London Chronicle. "The late Lord Dufferin when in Paris dreamed that he was in a hearse on the way to the cemetery. A few days later, as he was about to enter the elevator of a certain hotel, he was startled to find that the attendant was a double of the driver of the hearse in his dream. He thereupon promptly left the elevator and walked upstairs. The car ascended without him, but as it neared the top something in the mechanism gave way, and the passengers met their death. Had they also, one wonders, been forewarned in a dream?"

A Voracious Monster.

The most voracious of all marine beasts of prey is the orca, or killer whale. It reaches a length of twenty-five feet, and its jaws bristle with teeth from four to six inches long and as sharp as a dirk knife. Its digestive power is proportioned to its tremendous efficacy of its jaws. It seems also to be an atrocious glutton, as one specimen examined contained in its stomach thirteen porpoises and fourteen seals.
